Explorations: A Journal of Language and Literature

Procedures aimed at preventing ghostwriting and guest authorship

Ghostwriting is a situation where a person contributes significantly to an article, yet he or she is not disclosed as one of the authors or named in the acknowledgments.

Guest authorship (honorary authorship) is a situation where an author's contribution is insignificant or non-existent, yet he or she is listed as author/co-author of an article.

In order to maintain high academic standards of articles published in Explorations and eliminate any possible cases of ghostwriting and guest authorship, the editors implement the following procedures:

1. In the case of multi-authored articles, all authors are required to provide their affiliations and to disclose contribution of individual authors, that is to provide information on who is the author of concept, premises, methods, protocol etc., used in the publication. Main responsibility to disclose full information rests with the author submitting the manuscript, who should send an appropriate statement to the editors of Explorations.
2. Since ghostwriting and guest authorship are indication of scientific dishonesty, all cases will be exposed and adequate institutions will be informed (employers, scientific societies, scientific editors associations, etc.)
3. The authors are requested to provide information on sources of financing of a publication, financial contributions of research institutions, scientific associations and others.
